I can't let go of you
You are everywhere I turn
I feel you in these rooms
Can't escape from you
Please let me go

I swear I saw you open the door
Throw your coat on the floor
Reach out and turn on the light
Settle in for the night
Then I heard you call to me
And I can barely breathe
Then I slowly realize
It's just your ghost passing by

Try to let get you off my mind
But everything reminds me of you
Every sound I hear triggers a memory
I may never be free from you

Through my window there's an echo
You coming back to me
You lying next to me
Hand over hand, words over words
Will there be peace?
Will I be released?
