I'm hanging on 'cause I hate letting go
I hate letting go
I'm not that strong but you already know
How I hate letting go

We believed that dreams came true
Now that picture's torn in two

I counted on love but love would never cry for me
I counted on love but love would never lie for me
I counted on love but love would say goodbye for me
I counted on love

Some great defender is that what you need
To heal not to bleed
Some great pretender shouting
"Set yourself free, set yourself free"

Why do memories have to be
Like a lock without a key?

I counted on love but love would never cry for me
I counted on love but love would never lie for me
I counted on love, love would say goodbye for me

I was flying, oh, so high
Now I'm trying not to cry
I was trying but I'm dying
'Cause I hate letting go

I counted on love but love would never cry for me
I counted on love but love would never lie for me
I counted on love but love would say goodbye for me

I counted on love
(I counted on love)
I counted on you

(I counted on love)
I counted on your love
Love's counted on you
(I counted on love)

I counted on you
(I counted on love)
Don't let me down
