The day is done
and everyone has spent this summer day out in the rain has wondered into someone else's lane you know exactly what I mean

Ah, but everyone has felt the sun
we all have fallen victim to the day you know we've all been several minutes late

If you believe
in everything you see
and everything you read
that's not me
and I have this feeling no one knows me

Today was fun
for everyone
we all have had our problems of our own we've all been sitting waiting by the phone

And if today
were any other day I promise that I
would wrestle the powers that be

and I have this feeling no one
And if today
