So what's it all about, do you really want to know Do you want to give or do you just want to take it all and go

Coz you've got to let it out if you want to let it in Got to get a little lovin' in to make it all begin

You've got to find time to pick the right time to make a change

Coz it's a fine time to pick the right time to make a change

So when you gonna learn that it takes all sorts Don't you think life would be a little drab if we had the same thoughts

And you've taken all the good but you leave me with the bad

And if you don't make a change pretty soon there won't be nothin' comin back

You've got to find time to pick the right time to make a change

Coz it's a fine time to pick the right time to make a change

I do believe you read the verse
I do believe you wrote the words
I just need to let you out to let you in again
I just need to feel you're love again and again

You've got to find time to pick the right time to make a change

Coz it's a fine time to pick the right time to make a change

So what's it all about, do you really want to know Do you want to give or do you just want to take it all and go

Coz you've got to let it out if you want to let it in Got to get a little lovin' in to make it all begin

I do believe you read the verse
I do believe you wrote the words
I just need to let you out to let you in again
I just need to feel you're love again and again and again and again
