Where streetlamps go to die is where we will find our love - no reason my I love you this much nothing as such - don't ask me why

If I close my eyes and start counting all the lies
- I wish I'd die
I'm wishing all the best - I hope you pass the test at least you could try

I've never liked sleeping alone
But sleeping with you is like coming home I've never liked losing control
But when I'm with you that's what's making me whole

When you breath in my hair - the love we share
I can't believe this fear I have inside of not staying true to the images of you

I wish that I could go - and never let me know what you have done
I could live my life, and carry all my pride believing I won

I can't believe this fear I have inside of staying true to the images of you
