You relate through the bloodline
When you can never take anything that I give
Always wanting to relate through me
I go watch you, slowly slip away

You're wanting to put your trust in
When I can feel this remedy kickin' on
Just to taste it, just to want it
And I can say, "It's not my fault"

Say, "It's all right"
When I'm coming down
Not again, it's so l1fel1ke

Come, make it all right
When I'm coming down
Not again, I'm fragile

Would you choose me, or just abuse me?
When I can never take anything that you give
Always wanting to relate through me
I go watch you, slowly slip away

You're wanting to put your trust in
When I can feel this remedy kickin' on
Just to taste it, just to want it
And I can say, "It's not my fault"

Say, "It's all right"
When I'm coming down
Not again, it's so l1fel1ke

Come, make it all right
When I'm coming down
Not again, I'm fragile

You see, I'll be the one
In your darkest time
(It's not my fault)

Should I begin to erase myself?
I'm caught in this picture of you

Should I begin to assess myself?
Tell me it's over

It comes from above, with these feelings
It takes you away, and it buries your soul again
You're now, blessed by ignorance
'Cause you want to

So run with me, if you must follow
I'll take you away to this place
Where we can be free
A place I call, ecstasy

Now, you lie alone
Your chance to stop and stare
God, I kiss your bones
And say, it's not my fault

Say, it's all right
When I'm coming down
Not again, it's so I feel like

Come make it all right
When I'm coming down
Not again, I'm fragile

Well you say it's all right
When I'm coming down
Not again, it's so I feel like

Come make it all right
When I'm coming down
Not again, I'm fragile
