I blame you for the moonlit night and the dream that died where the eagles fly

I blame you for the moonlit night when I wander why are the seas still dry

Don't blame this sleeping satellite did we fly to the moon to soon, did we squander the chance in the rush of the rays the reasons as we chase the last good romance and still we try to justify the waste for the taste of a mans greatest invention oh

I blame you for the moonlit sky and the dream that
died where the eagles fly

I blame you for the moonlit nights when I wander why

have we got what it takes to advance did we speak to soon if the world is so green then why does it scream under a blue moon

we wander why the earths sacrifice for the price of its greatest invention oh

I blame you for the moonlit sky and the dream that

are the seas still dry don't blame this sleeping satellite
