you promise me a future, you promise me hope.
you came with open arms , i've seen seen it before you said all the right words, trying to take control.
now you're my freind, only when the cash flows

our life, our minds - we dont need you who'll be the first one to go
our life, our minds - we dont need you
when the days of punk are gone you're a businessman, selling the music that love but im using you by spreading my words ive got nothing to hide ill say it to your face you think you control me, you got it wrong

who'll be the first one to go
you came with open arms, ive seen it before you said all the right words trying to take control
now you're my freind, only when the cash flows

-i'll still be standing here when you're gone -with the same freinds from long time ago
-only a blind man wont see through you
-you need me- i dont need you

....its my life you dont control.
