im a little bit lonesome, im a little bit blue.
i cant stop crying since i lost you.
there's a pain in my heart like a lightning bolt im a little bit lonesome and its all your fault.

well, everytime i wake up i got you rolling in my head your eyes are looking at me but they're seeing her instead i've got a big fat broken heart witha pain sharper than a steel plated knife well thanks to you these lonesome blues are the best things in my life

im a little but lonesome im a little bit blue
im a little bit lonesome its all your fault well the last time that i saw you she had hold of your hand you waved across the street at me so i turned away and ran when i got home a found a honky tonk song and played it till my eyes went red well i grabbed a glass and said
