Once in a blue moon and four-leaf clover
Something reminds me that the fairy tale's over
There's no more pages, it's too late to change a thing
There's no more chances, I just can't win, no, I just can't win

But if you tell me a story, change it for me
Take her out and put me back in
Keep me standing, change the ending
Turn the page and take the part out
When you're never coming back again

After the smoke clears of the flame and the flashes
It never took too long, the story was ashes
There's no more pages, it's too late to change a thing
There's no more chances, I just can't win, no, I just can't win

But if you tell me a story, change it for me
Take her out and put me back in
Keep me standing, change the ending
Turn the page and take the part out
When you're never coming back again

The wheel keeps turning, crashing, burning
I keep learning, I just can't win, no, I just can't win

But if you tell me a story, change it for me
Take her out and put me back in
Keep me standing, change the ending
Turn the page and take the part out
When you're never coming back again

Oh, you're never coming back again
