Gloom

Something sweet in your nose tells your where to go
Seems as if you're never on your own
So you sneak just to see
What it is
It's the heat
Or maybe it's just a kiss
And I may not be concerned
But I care
If she's there
To die for you
Would she die for you?
Be there in your gloom
When you're calling her name
Until the end
Till end of the noon
Is she crying your gloom?
Does she sink with the day?
Good, is it good?
Are you understood?
Do you wear the shoes you wore before?
Do you sleep with your thumb in your mouth, anymore?
Did you protect your core?
And I may not be concerned
But I care
If she's there
To die for you
Will she die for you?
Be there in your gloom
When you're calling her name
Until the end
Till end of the noon
Is she crying your gloom?
Does she sink with the day?
