"Wink Of An Eye"

One startling afternoon
You sauntered into the room
And you sat down next to me
Calm and casually
Raised your brow to see me
And fashionably set out complicating things

As if you want to know why
To me you apply
So easily

As if you want to know why

And the fire I couldn't light
Never typified my life
Cause mine without you was just fine,
Really, very nice
And I only made believe
It impossible you'd be Everything you seemed

And in the wink of an eye
Now to me you apply
So, suddenly

Yeah in the wink of an eye
So, suddenly
