We always find a way to wind up alone and awake
Passing a torch back and forth until daybreak
Your company relaxes me, but I never feel tired
And I told you I don't want you, but I'm a bad liar

We should just try it on, explore it, enjoy it The alarm says my time here is up but I'm not ready to go yet
My hand rises and falls with the pace of your breathing
And I told you I don't want you, but we haven't been sleeping

You tell me it's dangerous to read too much into this, well I didn't come here to study
You think this is anybody's game, but I'm not just anybody
So if your lips like my lips, then
I don't see why not
If you promise me that you won't be too serious either
I told you I don't want you,
But my fingers do
I told you I don't want you
But I feel better now
I told you I don't want you
But I'm a bad liar,
I'm a bad liar
