The tragedy I preach
Is every thing you see
And everything you breath

Make way for all the dreams that can be held
Make way for all minds that can be fed
There's a cost for serenity, there's a cost to live freely
This stress is endless bring down the careless

It's coming down, it's coming down

It's a tragedy when we fail to see
It's a tragedy, all the things we feel
It's a tragedy when we fail to see
It's a tragedy, everything that's real

Master the mind
Master the earth's swine
Forever invoke what makes you right
And dissolve what makes you blind

Step back from the enemy within
Step back from that endless grin
There's a cost for serenity, there's a cost to live freely
This stress is endless bring down the careless

It's coming down, it's coming down

It's a tragedy when we fail to see
It's a tragedy, all the things we feel
It's a tragedy when we fail to see
It's a tragedy, everything that's real

Master the mind
Master the earth's swine
Forever invoke what makes you right
And dissolve what makes you blind
