It's hard to say where I've been
Or am sleeping in the dark
I don't know where I live, no
Dirty palace walls

I'm returning from something
To something, to something
I'm returning from something
To something, to something

I'm returning from something
To something, to something
I'm returning from something
To something, guess I'm alright

It's hard to say where I've been
Or am sleeping in the dark
I don't know where I live, no
Dirty splintered palace walls

I'm returning from something
To something, to something
I'm returning from something
To something, to something

I'm returning from something
To something, to something
I'm returning from something
To something, guess I'm alright
