Bypassed the day I can hear them coming
They walk round my door and speak of their coming
My trial awaits got nowhere to run
My only words, how soon you have come

I think about what you told me
And I was about to join in

Defy only, if you have a way to resist the lies Decline only, if you have the intention of taking this advice

Who brought me here, this place is familiar?
Where houses are black under the sun
Strangers pass on streets with strange names
All I can think is how soon they have come

I think about what you told me
And I was about to join in

Defy only, if you have a way to resist the lies
Decline only, if you have the intention of taking this
advice
Apply only, if you're not afraid to see your spirit die
Retreat only, if you dare not hear yourself say goodbye

Look at me now, they have cut my hair
It's a long way back
They kicked me down and I could not rise
I will never arrive

Look at me now, they have cut my hair
It's a long way back
They kicked me down and I could not rise
I will never arrive

Defy only, if you have a way to resist the lies
Decline only, if you have the intention of taking this
advice

Look at me now, they have cut my hair
It's a long way back

They kicked me down and I could not rise
I will never arrive
