Kate Ceberano - Mary Magdalene

Kate Ceberano / Peter Glenister

He sat down there beside me Looked real straight then politely Asked me if I believed in love I was deafened a bit by Back ground noise of the club I Moved in closer to hear what he said and he said, you know I think I can read your mind I think you're lost and you need a friend If what Im saying is wrong I don't mean to offend ohh nooo

and then the club began to spin and the walls kept closing in and no body seemed to matter not when we were together and the floor disappeared along with everything we feared and I felt like Mary Magdalene and any other girl whose ever been in love

I was shocked as we moved in to the quiet of the back room and there I motioned for him to sit down There installed in the black booth I resisted the urge to, plant my mouth on the tip of his brow and I said, you know Ive waited all life for this I am swimming inside your kisses Darling we are so young, how could this be wrong ohhhh

and no body seemed to matter that when we were together

in a spin and the walls kept closing in
together
ohhh this is love, yeahh

Ive been waiting all life for this I am spinning inside your kisses
ohhh it can't be wrong the club was in a spin

ever been in love spin and the walls kept closing in and nobody seemed to matter not when we were together
and I felt like Mary Magdalene yeah I felt like Mary Magdalene
Im in love

Ad lib continues and fades out
