It's so easy to be sad
And to wish you have a thing you never had
But it's much more world fire
To face like will the smile

It's so easy to sigh and cry
And to feel that light has fest to fire
But count you blessings one by one
And when you done your find you're...
Sittin' in the... sun

It's so easy to criticize
And to win the day which eating and wed lights
But you find in the air
But you may need a friend

It's easy to be a prayed
And to feel your let a field a shade
But count you blessings one by one
And when you done your find you're...
Sittin' in the... sun

It's so easy to sigh and cry
And to feel that light has fest to fire
But count you blessings one by one
And when you done your find you're...
Sittin' in the... sun...
But count you blessings one by one
And when you done your find you're...
Sittin' in the... sun...
And when you done your find you're...
Sittin' in the... sun
