Katelyn Tarver
"Again"

Are you what you say you are, do you mean the things you say
Don't you think we've come too far to play this guessing game
You tell me that we'd do if I don't worry anymore
But I can't read between the lines

So I'm thinking about what's really real
And I'm wondering how you really feel
Are we hanging on, or falling off the edge

Cause again, and again
What you said, man it's been running through my head
And again, you pretend to be my everything
My friends oughta know, that you're never sure
That I'm losing you again
Again and again and again

You never tell me anything until it's way too late I'm guessing about what secret sins keep pulling you away
Years of going round and round are never gonna last There's only so much lost and found and up and down before we crash

So I'm thinking about what's really real
And I'm wondering how you really feel
Are we hanging on, or falling off the edge

Cause again, and again
What you said, man it's been running through my head
And again, you pretend to be my everything
My friends oughta know, that you're never sure
That I'm losing you again

You say that you love me like never before
It's hard to believe with one foot out the door
And I don't think I can take it anymore, anymore, anymore, anymore, again and again
Again and again and again

Again, and again, what you said, man it's been running through my head

And again, you pretend to be my everything
My friends oughta know (my friends oughta know), that you're never sure (that you're never sure) That I'm losing you

'Cause again and again, what you said, man it's been running through my head
And again, you pretend to be my everything
My friends oughta know, that you're never sure
That I'm losing you again
