

Kathleen Edwards

"National Steel"

Visit "National Steel" on MotoLyrics.com

What a surprise wearing your disguise on the telephone line

I know it pleased you to know I needed you and your time

You play the game not saying either way but you know Could've made it real quick save me the guilt trip and just said no

Are you writing this all down?

This conversation the alienation in your tone

I've got no fucking clue from your point of view and your time zone

I wouldn't have asked saved you the task if I weren't for real

Trading a daughter and two thousand dollars
For a national steel

Are you writing this all down?

Visit Kathleen Edwards page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.