so it goes
hopeless i suppose thought i made a ripple but i didn't come close here today
tear myself away drown your tomorrow with my yesterday and i won't forget your number and the thumb you kept me under friday is a curse saturday's the charm sunday's just a false alarm while you're measuring abuses take a lesson from your muses wrap a little faith in a valentine things'll be all right i'm looking for a face in the water i'm looking for some semblance and order and i wish you well
fell too deep and nearly killed ya now the memory of it chills ya everything you fear turns to butterflies once you come to realise all your trouble's overrated leaves you nothing less than jaded have a little faith things'll all work out that's what it's all about
i'm falling for a fisherman's daughter but i wish you well yeah i wish you well i'm looking for a place that is farther than the wishing well
thought i made a ripple but i didn't come close

drown my tomorrow in your yesterday
i'm looking for the day i'll be farther
