Each time you open your mouth, I want to rip your heart out.

Each word you say to me is designed To make me hate myself worse than I have ever hated you.

With you the scene is a battlefield,
Death to all who don't look like you.

With you the scene is a war,
but you wear a uniform too.

You say that were face, you say that were talent less,
But you dance just the same.

You are a coward, you don't want a unity,
All you want is uniformity.

So much for your claims of acceptance and brotherhood.

You are a heartless snake,
I hope one day you face your vision,
And it destroys you like the dream you claim to embrace.

I hope one day your scene destroys you
