Wasn't it you who told me once that love is one big mystery Wasn't it me who was so sure about
(the) love at first sight theory?

And the confidence you gave me is the reason I'm behaving... so carefully, I feel that I'm confused

And I don't know when it happened But slowly I surrender I start to change the way I look at you

Will this summer end lover or friend
When you wake up from the dream
what will it be
And you don't know what you loose
But you know you have to choose Between a lover and a friend
Can I be fooled by the stories in your eyes messing up my memory
How can I fight this doubt inside of me about love and jealousy

And it used to be so easy to recognize your teasing but now I feel completely insecure And I try to grab and hold on to what we have and go on but all at once I feel I'm not that sure

Will this summer end lover or friend
When you wake up from the dream
what will it be
And you don't know what you loose
But you know you have to choose
Between a lover and a friend
