

Katy Perry "I Think I'm Ready"

Visit "I Think I'm Ready" on MotoLyrics.com

I'm used to opening my own doors and splitting the checks

He introduced me, was always just a friend

I bought a new dress, he never noticed

Always falling for these bad boys, such a challenge

I'm getting tired, of cleaning up after them

I think I'm ready to be a woman

Oh love, I think I'm ready

Ready for it

You were such a surprise

An unexpected gift

Said I was pretty, and I believed it

Not really used to all this attention

Told myself I don't deserve you

And this is just a phase

Could I get used to, being loved the right way?

I wanna argue, but there is nothing to say

Oh love, I think I'm ready

Ready for it

Ready for it

Oh love, I think I'm ready

Cuz you send me flowers, when there's no occasion

Yeah we talk for hours, you still wanna listen

Won't hold it against me if I just need you to hold me tonight

My mother always told me that you'd show up one day

So scared to feel this way but love, I think I'm ready

Ready for it

Ready for it

Oh love, I think I'm ready

Ready for it

Ready for it

Oh love, I think I'm ready

Visit Katy Perry page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

