I've always found it hard to see into the other side of me

I've always found it hard to love before you
Then you changed my life around
You turned my whole world upside down
You introduced me to someone I never knew

You casually told me you never meant to stay
You said you'd never hurt me and then you went away

Baby, are you coming home?
'Cos I need you here with me
I gotta have you once again
Where are you?

Babe, I need you by my side
Like a flower needs the rain
I've got to see your face again
Where are you?

I know the days go by so slow, I think of times I'll never know
Becoming more like what you said I'd never be I'm holding on to yesterday, it takes me all my time to pray
I'm slowly losing faith in love and faith in you

You casually told me you never meant to stay
You said you'd never hurt me
Tell me, why did you go away?

Baby, are you coming home?
'Cos I need you here with me
I gotta have you once again
Where are you?

Babe, I need you by my side
Like a flower needs the rain
I've got to see your face again
Where are you?

I'm holding on to yesterday

I'm hanging on to every single word
I'm holding on to yesterday
I'm hanging on to every word you said
I'm asking you baby 'cos I got to know
