(Cindy Walker)

On the books this day will be know to all officially
As the day that you left me the day you left me
But if my heart could testify its fatest day is just a lie
'Cause the day has long gone by the day you left me.

Though you're here not really here I know, oh well, I know
You packed your dreams and you left my heart such a long long time ago
Though you've just walked out the door and you won't be back no more

--- Instrumental ---

Though you're here not really here I know, oh well, I know
You packed your dreams and you left my heart such a long long time ago
Though you've just walked out the door and you won't
