(Billy Mize)

You know that I am not the kind to cheat at love and still I find
That there's danger every time you come my way
And when I'm dancing close to you the same desire comes rushing through And I wonder just how long it will be till temptation gets the better of me.

I don't go in for breaking rules a loser's game that's played for fools
And I tell my anxious heart oh please be strong But when I look into your eyes I want you so can I be wise
That I wonder just how long it will be till temptation gets
the better of me.

What's the matter with me this is wrong and I can see That only heartaches and pain can come way Yet I long to feel your touch and I want your love so much
That I wonder just how long it will be till temptation gets
the better of me
Till temptation gets the better of me...
