As i lay in your arms at night i thank god
For the gift that was you
And as i slowly drift into the world of dreams
I saw my dream, had already come true
Promise me honesty
Promise me happiness
Promise me you'll always be there
Made me all these promises but you
Couldn't keep your promise love, promise love
Constantly reminded of the hurt inside
Forced to be without you near
Now i can't stand and live for myself
I no longer need you here
Promise me honesty
Promise me happiness
Promise me you'll always be there
Made me all these promises but you
Couldn't keep your promise love, promise love
Now that my tears have stopped
I can see that i'm better off on my own
And when you've realized what you've lost
Please don't come back cuz you're on your own
Promise me honesty
Promise me happiness
Promise me you'll always be there
Made me all these promises but you
Couldn't keep your promise love, promise love
Promise love [repeat till fade]
