

Keith Green

"Born Again"

Visit "Born Again" on MotoLyrics.com

You're the sun, You're the starlight, You're a wave upon the sea.

You're the glory of the sunrise as it sets the morning
free.

You're my hope for the future, It's your love that covers me

And if I have my choice, I'll spend my life watching you watching me.

When you came I was weary and I thought you couldn't
see

But you saw right through my masquerade, right to that secret place in me.

Then your love held me gently, whispering everything's
alright.

I was born again into your love, born again into you
light.

Jesus, sometimes my mind grows cloudy and it's oh so hard to see

That there's a life I'm meant to live for you Sometimes I've lived for me.

When you came I was weary and I thought you couldn't
see

But you saw right through my masquerade right to that secret place in me.

Then your love held me gently, whispering everything's
alright.

I was born again into your love, born again into you
light

Visit Keith Green page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.