Effie, it's been all these years
You haven't even said hello
I'm your brother, Effie
Say hello

Come on, Effie, you know I'm sorry
I should have come before today
Hold me, is all I have to say

You've always been the baby
But I'm trying to change
And so am I
It's taken all these years to be free

Of loving that man
(Finding myself)
And getting a hold of the anger in me

Effie, I have a song
And only you can sing it
The way it should be

I've waited so long to hear
You say that to me
Say it again, say it again
Effie, sing my song the way it should be
