When I was a kid, they said shut up and listen Follow this path stop the games and the wishing Made me believe with their age and position
That I never could achieve what I wanted, millions And it's sometimes just a word that can kill a dreamer

All my life I've been searching for the answers thinking
All my times been a waste
I've been low, watched the world and these people taunt me
But now it's my time to say Imma do it my way
So step the fuck away

It was last month standing on a street in Chicago Talking to a friend about my life and my last show
I was down on everything until he finally said yo You gotta live your life like there's really no tomorrow
And it's sometimes just a word that can move a
dreamer

Please just realize
They can't control your life
Don't let them lead you Down that road
