

Kelley James "Making Me Love"

Visit "Making Me Love" on MotoLyrics.com

There is a way I look at life and feel in every day
The fiction becomes the fact faster than I can rationalize
It's the just the way Sometimes I don't love myself I'm not good enough
Just thinking if I'm really worth loving why does hurt creep in It's here to stay

And when I'm down again I feel the hurt and pain pretend to be yesterday
No remedy for now I feel the world has let me down But you say baby this is crazy just look at all the love that you have

You're making me love
You're making me love
You're making me love
And I can't stop thinking about loving you
And now I am alright, I am alright

Sometimes I, can't fall asleep with these thoughts on my mind
The morning hours tend to bring the dreams that seem to take me in too deep and foster fright Fallen sound, it's all around, you make me go, and when I take it, I look down once more You keep on playing, why? I know that I could never be the bare knuckle turn to white To be the something I pray, let me go let me stay, those thoughts are left to linger bounce together and stray from the world that we know, but you whisper once more

Visit Kelley James page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.