A long road ahead now awaits our chosen line
Slowly step-by-step we chase a better life
I hear their cries they tell me stay on track
But I'll try no looking back

To find all those colours of life
Wondering what its like
On the outside of those walls we maintain
Before I find we're all the same
Before we're old and hope to start over again

So make your move and hold no more mindset that's overused
With memories all foretold, make a change or join the queue
We hear their cries they tell us stay on track but we'll try no looking back

To find all those colours of life
Wondering what its like
On the outside of those walls we maintain
Before I find we're all the same
Before we're old and hope to start over again

As its better to look out toward the unknown
With all to show as its better to have lived with no looking back

A long road ahead
Slowly step by step

We'll find all those colours of life
No wondering what its like
On the outside of those walls we maintain
Before I find we're all the same
Before we're old and hope to start over again

As its better to have known
As its better to have lived with no looking back
