You're the hardest person to approach
You intimidate me so much
But I'm so caught up in translations
I can't interpret the words you won't spit out

Too much chasing you has worn me
Down to nothing
I've lost so much energy just keeping up that

I have lost all the strength in me

This time I'm holding you accountable
Though I'm not angry I know what good intentions are It's time we confront these hopes that we have feared to Talk about until now

Too much chasin you has worn me down to nothing
I've lost so much energy just keeping up that

I have lost all the strength in me
And I owe
You know I owe this all to you
