Because of you, I don't use lipstick anymore
I've torn my tinny shorts, I diminished my tone
I changed my friends for someone who demolishes me
Because of you, I can't go home anymore
Because of you, I lost my liberty
I gave you my life, I only did your will
I fought with the world, I let go of everything
I didn't look back
And now you come
Telling me you don't want me anymore

Is it or is it not worth crying over?
Is it or or is it not, you say
Is it or is it not worth crying over?
When someone doesn't know how to love
Is it or is it not worth crying over?
Is it or or is it not, you say
Is it or is it not worth crying over?
And wear my shoes

What is love? I don't know
Sincerely I already thought
Sincerely I don't know
For what do I have a heart?
