I hear things I tried to say
Echo back to me the opposite way
Everything Ive read spinning round my head
Lets escape to where the air is cold and thin
Ohl might have believed in a miracle once, Everest
Ohl might have believed, though Im feeling deceived
And for all I care
I don't want to know
Ghosts are dancing around the mime
Haunted by the sense of passing time
Dreamers know the way to survive the day
They'll escape the where the air is cold and thin
Ohl might have believed in a miracle once, Everest
Ohl might have believed, though Im feeling deceived
And for all I care
I don't want to know
All the film has been exposed
In my photographic memory, I suppose
When it rain, it pours screaming through the doors
Every pain and pent-up eyesore I recall
Ohl might have believed in a miracle once, Everest
Ohl might have believed, though Im feeling deceived
And for all I care
I don't want to know
Ohl might have believed in a miracle once, Everest
Ohl might have believed, though now Im feeling deceived
And for all I care
I don't want to know
I don't want to know
