Blaze Lyrics-by Kelly Rowland

(1st Verse)

You caught me without a warning
You know you scarred me, & you thought id never love again.
Shoulda been a man for me,
Coulda held it down for me, but you left me blowing in the wind.
If it doesn't make me weaker, It'll make me stronger
Cause you're no longer... you'll no longer have control.

(Chorus)

Sparks from the flame brings back a memory,
A scar still remains from what you did to me.
No coming back you can forget it,
Knowing in your heart you shouldn'tve let it... go.
Can't take it back cause now I'm past the pain,
You only have yourself to blame.
Lay in the bed that u chose to make,
Let this house burn down in a blaze.

(2nd Verse)

I gotta give it to u, took only one time to fool me
But you'll never get that chance again.
Promised myself that I won't let u pull me under,
How I keep getting up I know it makes u wonder.
If it doesn't make me weaker, It'll make me stronger
Cause your no longer... you'll no longer have control.

(Chorus)

Sparks from the flame brings back a memory,
A scar still remains from what you did to me.
No coming back you can forget it,
Knowing in your heart you shouldn'tve let it... go.
Can't take it back cause now I'm past the pain,
You only have yourself to blame.
Lay in the bed that u chose to make,
Let this house burn down in a blaze.
