Bulletproof, you act aloof
I'm turning blue while you get your kicks
you dont know how far I'd go, how bright I would glow
for you
You dont know what i would try, the things I'd defy for you
What was I thinking?
I should have blown you off
make you feel some pain
What was I thinking?
I should have let you down
Make a clean getaway.
Lately its like you're two different people at once Lately it's like I'm no one at all, no one at all
You dont know how far I'd go, how bright I would glow
for you
The lines I would cross, things I would toss for you
What was I thinking?
I should have blown you off
Make you feel some pain
What was I thinking?
I should have let you down
Make a clean getaway
Trying harder for you, then you've ever tried for yourself
Strech me out till I'm transperent, never thought never gave a thought how it felt been devoured by obsession
I have nothing left to show
Now you say that you've forgotten

More than I will ever know

What was I thinking?
I should have blown you off
Make you feel some pain
What was I thinking?
I should have let you down
Make a clean get away
What was I thinking?

I should have blown you off
Make you feel some pain
What was I thinking?
I should have let you down
Make a clean getaway.
