If only for the moment now the moments gone
You swear you watched the best things fade away
You stole yourself from insecure to make it right
And never planned on ending up this way

But doesn't it just kill you
To know they're coming back again

Chorus

What would you do
If the weight of the world
Was keeping you grounded

I could be the highest point of any sky
And I can tell you're dealing with the pain
And nothings changed but maybe just the most in us

I never planned on ending things this way

But doesn't it just kill you
To know they're coming back around

Chorus

All the strength that you found in this world
Couldn't save you I could save you

Did you figure out there's something more
Than finding yourself on the ground
Can you make it past what you ignore
All the things they love

Chorus
