Underneath the shadows that will follow down and tear up all he knows and he cries out to God this light is always on and guides you home guides you home its passing by passing by

The morning comes and the sickness hits and lasts every part of wednesday The panic sets in deep confusion hits so hard tracing lines of lives to keep these fractures out

I made this so even by recounting your fame where-a-bouts unknown for where you love to be

This time his words are racing he's surrounded by the sound as crowds are cheering his voice is all they need
hands are reaching out to..
...slow this dance down
count your steps now

Take a look at your your influences now and they dont seem so far away Well do this it's a gift and do that you are blessed do this one last time just like the first time

And everytime another maiden calls my name you always wonder how

you wonder how
you always wonder how...

..This is remembering the calm and writing words in this song, this sentencing has never even been so hard
