...And the moon is flooding this town that regulates my senses and bleaches the night sky

...and the bells are chiming away the same time of days that will regulate my own senses...

its so much harder than it looks its harder than it seems its so hard (a hidden image has been calling in the distance)

it points me in directions that i wont go i will never make amends

(these accusations reveal stunning answers to our requests)

...and as the charlatans bring their false pretense to a new colony

dont trust their words they're only poison dont trust their poison

catching the thief is...

well starting out as hopefully hoping and saviors saving
a town in distress

we ride
we drive
and we stay long
