Just because I'm not there, does not mean I don't care.

When I want to hold you tight, wrap my arms around you and feel your body all through the night. All I need is a glimpse of your sweet and tender face to put me in that happy place.

Just because I'm not around, does not mean I can't be found. Look to me up in the sky, when hundreds of gods candles are shining down.

Just because of you
Just because of who you are Just because I love you for who you are.

Just because this all feels right and I know I need you all through the day and night.

Just because of you
Just because of who you are Just because I love you for exactly the way you are.
