My world was no more than a dream
And waitin' on a dream can sure get lonely
Your love just fell right into place
And filled an empty space to overflowing, overflowing

My world begins with havin' a friend
When I'm feeling blue
My world would end
If ever I heard you say we were through

Just don't know what I'd do
'Cause my world begins and ends with you

Sometimes I tell little lies to see
If your eyes are looking through me
But you know lying's not my style
I just need your smile coming to me, reassuring me

My world begins with havin' a friend
When I'm feeling blue
My world would end
If ever I heard you say we were through

Just don't know what I'd do
'Cause my world begins and ends with you
