Sometimes I still think of you
Love that's gone by and the things I didn't do
Time heals hearts so they all say
Passing of years slowly pulls the pain away

There's still a little tenderness left
In everything I do
It's what I learned
From loving you

Well, I had too much to learn to
Hold on to someone like you
And it took losing you to make me see
The woman you needed me to be

Times have changed I have changed too
Even my eyes turned a deeper shade of blue
Guess it's all that crying they went through
It's what I learned from lovin' you

Well, I had too much to learn to
Hold on to someone like you
And it took losing you to make me see
The woman you needed me to be

I don't cry though we're apart
And someday soon someone else will need this heart
And the next time I'm gonna know
When a love is true

It's what I learned from loving you
It's what I learned from loving you
It's what I learned from loving you
It's what I learned from loving you
