She wakes up stunning every morning
Like an angel of the light
Makes me wonder, am I dreaming?
Why's everything so black?

I've been living in a world so dark
'Til she started filling up my heart
With a little more love
With a little more love
With a little more love.

We are different, she is peaceful
I get up without a shame
I go crazy whenever I want to
She's still good, for goodness' sake.

There are days I want to run and hide
She replaces every tear I cry
With a little more love
With a little more love
With a little more love
With a little more love.

--- Instrumental break ---

She's like a river that keeps on flowing
Her heart is true and she keeps on coming through
With a little more love
With a little more love
With a little more love (she's out there giving me more love)
With a little more love (she's out there giving me more love)

[repeats until music fades out].
