Baby don't tell me stories about your past again And honey don't ask me questions about the trouble I've been in
Yes I love you I love you too let's start our lives again
So let's think about where we're going and forget about where we've been Yes let's think about where we're going and forget about where we've been
And if we'll trust each other our love will never end Yes we can share tomorrow together hand in hand

So let's think about where we're going and forget about where we've been [steel]
You've heard a lot of talk around of how I used to be Well I'm no angel either and I guess you've heard about me
I'll forgive if you will I know true love will win
If we think about where we're going and forget about where we've been
Yes let's think about...
