Say, are you willing to go?
Taking chances on a different side
Explore the unknown

So, are you ready to show?
Some affinity with imminent change
That's still to unfold

When you analyse and read between the lines
Desertion as desired
Is nothing less than, less than nothing

So, are you planning on a permanent goodbye?
But right now you're still here
In the darkest hour you will hit the lights
Before you disappear

Say, are you eager to know?
Can you manage with a limited mind?
Will you manage in these cynical times?

When you analyse and read between the lines
Desertion as desired
Is nothing less than, less than nothing

So, are you planning on a permanent goodbye?
But right now you're still here
In the darkest hour you will hit the lights
Before you disappear

When living in disguise
For raising questions
Then living's lost its life
And how to leave is all there's left to know
