caroline's version:

I want your spine here
Attach it to me I am always safest when you are a little bit away
A movement in the eye everge

Lay down in the grass now
You are so warm here
I want my tongue there
You are, so close that you get wet
But so close can no one go...

Lay down exactly like you always do when I want my tongue there
You are, so close that get wet
But so close can no one go...

lq_strumpa's version:

Nail your spine into my back, you are in me.
Iâm your breathing as you crack into, that sad and scary smile.
So this is what it feels like.
This is what it feels like
Iâm the one that sucks you dry, drowning in you.
I am every tear you cry, I am someone else tonight, and this is what it feels like.
This is what it feels like
This is what it feels like
I take you down, I give you back, softly, slowly leave you breathing as you crack into that sad and scary smile, knowing what it feels like.
This is what it feels like
This is what it feels like
This is what it feels like
This is what it feels like
