So god, now that you've brought me here
Just one thought
When will this disappear

Cause it seems far too long I've been standing in this place
With little hope over sorrow
A thousand miles from grace
But even times when I feel like my bread has turned to stone
I'll trust in my heart that you're leading Safely home

So god, it looks like we're here again
Another thought, when will I see this end

Cause it seems far too long I've been standing in this
place
With little hope over sorrow
A thousand miles from grace
stone
I'll trust in my heart that you're leading
Safely home

Cause it seems far too long I've been standing in this
place
With little hope over sorrow
A million miles from grace
But even times when I feel like my bread has turned to
stone
I'll trust in my heart that you're leading Oh I'll trust in my heart that you're leading Yes I'll trust in my heart that you're leading Safely home
