It used to be so simple
Day after day
Paper planes and little boy things
While time just drifted away
Where have I gone to?
Where have I run?
Who is this person
I have become?

Take me back to when I was young
When love was love and pain was pain
When sun was sun and rain was rain
Take me back to when I first knew
That I was me and You were You
And, Lord, I gave it all to You
Take me back

At times, the truth seems faded
From black-and-white to gray
Clouded by a circumstance
At times the truth seems to get in the way
Where have I gone to?
Where have I run?
Who is this person
I have become?

Take me back to when I was young
When love was love and pain was pain
When sun was sun and rain was rain
Take me back to when I first knew
That I was me and You were You
And, Lord, I gave it all to You
Take me back

Oh, at times I know I fall away
And I don't always have the words to say
But I know the safest place for me is You

Take me back to when I was young
When love was love and pain was pain
When sun was sun and rain was rain
Take me back to when I first knew

That I was me and You were You
And, Lord, I gave it all to You
Take me back
